ASTHMA CURE FREE.

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.
Write Your Name and Address Plainly.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails. The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler.

Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.,

Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or other.

Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AYON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I changed to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

Yours respectfully,

O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.

Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit.

Marshal Fogarty Acts, Ordering
All The Saloons Closed.

Gives Bar Rooms Until Wednesday To Shut Up

Dover, Jan. 13.—Steps were taken here today to close the 250 or more places where, it is stated, intoxicating beverages are sold in violation of the statutes. A committee of the local W. C. T. U. called on City Marshal James Fogarty and presented a resolution that the sale of liquor should be stopped. Marshal Fogarty decided to act at once, and during the forenoon notices were sent to all saloons or other places where liquor has been sold, including drug stores, that illegal sales must be stopped before Wednesday next. The action of the W. C. T. U. followed a large mass meeting held in the First church last night, at which the resolution presented to the city marshal was adopted. Miss Helen G. Rice of Boston addressed the meeting, and the Rev. George E. Hall of the First church presented the resolution, which said: "We desire the impartial and faithful enforcement of the prohibition law, and we look to see the properly constituted officers of the law do their duty, assured of our unflinching support." It has always been claimed in this city that the officers were ready to enforce the law whenever the citizens desired it to be enforced, and the city marshal's response today was very prompt. He instructed each patrolman to notify the proprietor of every known or suspected bar-room on his beat that his place must be closed by noon Wednesday, Jan. 15.

IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER.

Emperor William's New Yacht To Be Christened Alice.

New York, Jan. 13.—Emperor William's yacht, now being constructed at Shooters' island, is to be christened Alice in honor of Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, who is to christen the yacht, and also for a cousin of the emperor whose name also is Alice. This cousin is thought to be the czarina of Russia and a granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

BORALMA AND THE ABBOTT TO RACE.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 13.—The Post will say tomorrow that Thomas W. Lawson will accept the challenge of Fife Commissioner Scannell for a race between Boralma and The Abbott. E. Smathers of New York will also be accommodated with Lord Derby in a series of races during the summer. Mr. Lawson's representative will meet representatives of Messrs. Scannell and Smathers in New York on Tuesday and arrange the terms.

TO HAVE A TELEPHONE.

It is more than likely that Whales-back lighthouse will be connected with a telephone in the near future. It would also be a wise move on the part of the government to have the Boon Island lighthouse connected, for such a service would increase the efficiency of the life saving service to the greatest possible degree. And the need of a life-saving crew at York beach should not be overlooked either by the government.

O. LORD.

Notable Incident At a Meeting of London Liberal Association.

London, Jan. 13.—The inaugural meeting of the London Liberal association tonight was notable for a demonstration against Lord Roseberry, a letter from him being greeted with hisses.

IN CONGRESS.

The House.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The house today spent the time in a general discussion of the pension appropriation bill, and the debate took a wide range. Messrs. Grosvenor of Ohio and Hepburn of Iowa denounced a report passed by the last G. A. R. encampment which criticized themselves and other members of congress on the veterans' preference bill which was defeated at the last session.

The Senate.

Washington, Jan. 13.—In the senate Mr. Nelson of Minnesota called up the bill providing for the establishment of a department of commerce. After some debate the bill finally went over in executive session of the senate a large number of nominations were confirmed, among them being the following: James O. Lyford of New Hampshire, naval officer for Boston and Charlestown; Charles J. Hamblett, United States attorney for New Hampshire; R. N. Elwell, collector of customs, Portsmouth; Isaac W. Dyer, United States attorney for Maine.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—At the annual meeting of the board of trade today, a memorial was sent to congress asking that the circumstances and events of the battle of Santiago be examined into, and it also endorsed Admiral Dewey's minority report of the Schley controversy.

THE HAMPTON INDUSTRY.

The new lobster trap industry recently started at North Hampton by the Garland Brothers is thriving, and bids fair to boom before the season closes.

A recent shipment of fifty traps was made to Gloucester, and a number of local fishermen have also placed orders for later delivery.

It is interesting to know that all the material used in these traps is taken from the immediate vicinity, and when finished make a strong, rugged article, which it is claimed by the makers will last even two seasons or longer, barring storms, which are very liable to carry away all gearing.

DAILY NEWS SUSPENDS.

Portland's Anti-Prohibition Evening
Paper Has Liabilities Estimated at $5000.

Portland, Me., Jan. 13.—The Portland Daily News, an evening anti-prohibition paper which was started last July, has suspended publication, and its publishers have made an assignment to Lawyer James A. Connolan. The liabilities are estimated at $5,000; no assets. The plant is covered by a blanket mortgage issued on a loan of $2,500 made by William A. Alden last summer.

SOLDIER EXECUTED.

Convicted of The Murder of A Philippine Girl.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The war department has been advised of the execution of Phineas Pouff, late corporal of Co. K, Nineteenth infantry, at Cebu, Philippine islands, on the morning of Jan. 3d. He was convicted of the wilful murder of a native girl on Nov. 15th, 1900, and sentenced to be hanged, but escaped. He was executed immediately after his recapture.

A NEW STATION.

One To Be Established At Culebra Island.

Shipment Of Big Guns For The Fortifications.

A Marine Garrison Will Be Stationed
There.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The government has determined to establish an important naval station at Culebra island, near Porto Rico, which came into the possession of the United States through the Spanish-American treaty of Paris. Shipments of big guns for contemplated fortifications are being made, and a marine garrison will be stationed there as soon as barracks can be built. Culebra island is advantageously situated for strategic purposes, and an excellent harbor, with deep water, makes it better adapted for naval uses than San Juan or Ponce. The plans of the navy department for establishing the station are being carried out quietly, but with expedition. The North Atlantic squadron is now there, engaged in tactical maneuvers and joint sea and shore operations, and its officers are collecting information and making surveys to determine the character and extent of the improvements which the navy department will make. The United States dispatch boat Dolphin left Washington Saturday for Culebra to make surveys of the harbor on which the naval station will be situated.

METHODIST PARISH MEETING.

On Monday evening the members of the Methodist parish met at the vestry on State street to ascertain the feeling of the people on remodeling the old church. The meeting which was largely attended was called to order by E. N. McNabb, chairman of the building and finance committee, and prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. Thomas Whiteside. Dr. O. S. Faketel, presiding elder of the Concord district of the New Hampshire conference, then took the chair and after a few preliminary remarks called for a report from the building committee and J. T. Davis, the secretary of this committee, rendered an excellent account of their work. He stated the plans of remodeling the church and the opinions of expert architects of New York who have had large experience in church building that it would not be profitable to outlay any amount on the old structure. The treasurer of the committee, G. B. Chadwick, then made his report. After some discussion it was voted that the parish recommend the building of a new church on a new site to the quarterly conference. The question of a lot was then considered and several lots were suggested by the committee, one being on Miller avenue, next to the estate of A. P. Preston, one at the corner of Rockland street and Richards avenue, another, the Wilson property at the corner of Court and Rogers streets, and one next to the Public Library on Islington street. The matter of a lot was left with the committee who will report at the quarterly conference. The subject of finance was then brought up and quite a substantial sum was raised. The matter of a new church edifice will now undoubtedly be forced along as fast as possible.

FUNERAL OF MR. EVANS.

The funeral of Henry E. Evans was held at the home near St. Aspinquid park, York Beach, at two o'clock on Monday afternoon. The Rev. Eli Snow of the York church conducted the service. There was a very large attendance of the people of York and the surrounding towns. Many prominent people of the county and state were present. The floral tributes were very profuse and beautiful. Interment was in the family cemetery.

Distracting Head Noises

Due to Catarrh—Annoy by Day and Prevent Sleep at Night.

The projections of tissue on each side of the head are not the ears—that is, the eardrums. What we usually call the ears are only contrivances to catch sound waves and conduct them to the real mechanism of hearing farther inside the head. The internal ears, the real ears, are cut off from the outside air by the ear drums, and yet it is necessary to have air in the middle ear to conduct sounds to the structures that interpret their vibrations on the brain. This air for the middle ear comes warm from the throat through little passages called the "eustachian tubes." The blood-heated nose and throat warm this air and free it of all dust and irritants before it reaches such delicate structures as are most concerned in the sense of hearing.

The most common cause of deafness is a blocking up of the eustachian tubes by extension of catarrh into them. While the shutting off of air from the throat causes hardness of hearing so far as external sounds are concerned, it is apt to imprison certain other sounds made by the circulation in the head or conducted along such hard structures as communicate with the internal ear. These head noises or imprisoned sounds are very perplexing and sometimes almost distracting, vexing and annoying by day and preventing sleep at night. These sounds are varied as they are confusing. They are often likened to the purring of a cat, the roaring of a sea-shell, the rumbling of machinery, the buzzing of a bee or fly, the humming of a mosquito or of a humming bird, the tinkling of bells, the singing of a tenor, the crackling of a wood fire, the hissing of a snake or goose, the murmur of running water, the soughing of the wind, etc.

Nine-tenths of the cases of deafness are due to catarrh, and nearly all cases of progressive hardness of hearing, especially if one can hear better some times than at others and if troubled with head noises, are caused by catarrh of the eustachian tubes, or where only one ear is affected with too little sound from the outside and too much from the inside the catarrh has gotten into one tube only.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years, says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking."

"I tried ironies and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty-cent boxes which I bought at my druggist, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, acting on catarrh only through the 'blood,' will reach and cure catarrh in the eustachian tubes as well as elsewhere, and this is why so many who have taken it for nasal catarrh have been surprised at being cured of their deafness and head noises.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets cure all kinds of catarrh of all parts of the body. Acting through the blood, they reach every part alike. They are sold at all drug stores for 50 cents a box.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Ida Bart and Margaret McIntire, installing officers of St. Nicholas, installed the following officers at York Beach Lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. F., of Kittery at a regular meeting Saturday evening.

AFTER LIFE SAVERS' MONEY.

A Little Scheme That the Superintendent Has Heard of.

Superintendent S. H. Harding of the First Life Saving Station, has learned of a scheme that is being worked to obtain money under the pretense that the funds thus obtained are to be expended for the relief of life savers and their families. The project is undoubtedly a fraud as the following circular issued to keepers of stations in the first district goes to prove:

Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 27, 1901. To the Keepers of Life Saving Stations, first district:
Sir:—As a concern calling itself the National Benefit association, has been incorporated under the laws of Maine for the alleged purpose of publishing and selling a history of the United States life saving service and as it has been learned that agents sent out by this concern are soliciting subscriptions in various parts of the country, professing that the money obtained is to be used for the benefit of ex-life savers and their families, I am authorized by the general superintendent under date of Nov. 18, 1901, to inform you that neither the life saving service nor any of its officers has anything to do with the project whatever or any connection with it. Give this statement the widest publicity by every means convenient to your hands.

Respectfully,
S. H. HARDING,
Supt. 1st District.

Our Naval Officers Must Foster Friendly Relations.

An Interesting Article By Robert
St. Skerrett.

Apart from the personal entertainment of intimates, the unwritten law of the navy have required the commanders of fleets and the captains of individual ships, as well as from friendly relations with the officials of other powers by a generous offer of hospitality and the granting of something more than bread in the wardroom and storage of our ships, and this, well nigh generally, at the expense of the entertaining officer. In the days of sailing ships and at a much more modest standard of living this tax upon the officers' purse was not so grievous as now. Today our vessels, gliding in their speed, from one port to another bearing the majesty of our flag, while the officers bear the burden of most of the entertaining that follows in consequence. This has now become so much of a tax that occasionally the navy department, depending, perhaps of circumstances, from the strict letter of appropriations, is obliged to help our flag officer or captain out of their embarrassment incident to official hospitality not of his own choosing. To have entertained would have occasioned imbed comment, and thus, for the sake of "peace" as the Chinese say, our officers, with no assurance of reimbursement, must have drawn their own pockets and entertained the people board whom they would naturally or commonly have felt the sense of intimacy. This is largely amplified even within our own navy by the frequent calls from officers of visiting local or even national vessels for the detail of naval vessels to participate in the economies. These functions invariably demand a considerable amount of official entertainment, if a spirit of social hospitality be sent, and, as a rule, the officers of ships must pay the bill. In no

To any one familiar with such conditions it is plain that the commanding officer, frequently, is in more of a personal outlay than the first officer of the fleet. The flag generally makes fairly long stays at the principal ports of his station after the first round of establishment; the call for him is only infrequent. To the smaller ships of the fleet falls the principal duty of cruising and in nearly every port there is left or unfair-favored by the dispatching command of visitations. The officers, as a rule, are in flag on the flagship, and their aggregate, is less, yet the burden of the outlay is often greater than on the squadron leader, where there is always a band of command. Again, in the less favored a—often being measured by the frequency of the "flags" visit—

It is not but a short while since our commodore—now promoted to the grade of rear admiral, were called upon to do the honors of the officers' foreign ports, although the grade of many years was recognized as a sign of the excommunicability of the stations—a fall between the sea and of a captain and the squadron command of a rear admiral. With one of commodore's pay and with all of the official trappings of a rear admiral, it is a matter of common report in the service that many of these men are rather to make up the difference from the private purses—and their salaries or to ask to be relieved if unwilling to bear the charge of stinkiness. In the department has been obliged to recall officers of a thrifty nature, they were not mean men either, who could not keep up that measure of hospitality demanded by their stations. The story is told of a rear admiral of commanding the Mediterranean squadron, who, having a large and expensive family of daughters, was forced to limit his entertaining. For two months at a time he would keep flagship off Morocco well north of her ports out in the long reaches of the Atlantic, and then, when he returned, so to speak, by this port of assistance off the Morocco coast he would ship back into the Mediterranean and hold up his end, so to speak, in the exchange of courtesies among the various flag officers present. It is told of the same admiral once returning from the shore, his steward, whether they had been marked, he decided to make an appeal upon another admiral. In leaving the boat to mount the stranger's flag he passed the steward's bundle of cushions by the latter. Just as he reached the gangway the admiral fell blunder, and then and there, the glitter of gold lace, the fine, flowing blue boys, and the noise of the drum, the old man yearning to save the precious parcel.

service in the shape of added pay for the distinction, with the tacit understanding that the difference is to meet the cost of special dining and the like. One may, that is, the allowance for "board money" is tantamount to entertainment fund, and in the service for allowance runs the total grades from the cadet in command of a torpedo boat to captain of the battle ship. In the French navy table money is distributed to all the commissioned officers. The cadet up, and the same is paid to the French. The Russians, the Russians do substantially the same thing by increasing the pay as they go farther from the home base, and as the cost of living is high, and as the cost of eating is high, the French are not much to be envied.

In the British service, the best

When it is proposed to entertain either in return or in advance of courtesies, the officers are notified and from the admiral down to the lowest sailor each is expected to chip in. The admiral generally contributes four shares, the captain two shares and the ward room and storage officers each one share. The tax upon each being determined ultimately when the function is over. Some years ago the junior officers of the storage mess declined to join their first uniforms being still unpaid for. The captain of that ship, to the surprise of the admiral, even with those thrifty young gentlemen, detailed all of them to do beauty work ordinarily turned over to the coxswains of the boats on occasions of entertainment except in the single instance of a launch bearing the big "big bugs." Of course, they could not dance, neither did they smoke, in the future, threw thrills to the wind.

The Mary Fisher Home.
Aged authors, artists, teachers, and other professional people are spending their declining days in comfort and happiness under the care of Miss Mary Fisher at Nos. 144, 146, 148, 150 and 152 St. Ann's avenue, in the Bronx. The first inmate of this home for the cultured poor was an old friend, a teacher out of a position, whom Miss Fisher took into her home.
Then Miss Fisher formed what was called the Home Hotel company, gave her own home to the cause and opened it to any one in need. The proceeds of the sale of her Brooklyn house she uses in keeping up the present quarters according to her idea of what a home should be. Miss Fisher lives in it and directs its management. Associated with her is Miss Emma P. Trayner, corresponding secretary of the association, which has become incorporated.
The vice presidents are Mrs. Charlotte J. Bell, Mrs. A. Inez Ludlow, Mrs. Theodore Harris, Mrs. Marie T. Lange, Mrs. Pierre M. Thomson; recording secretary, Miss J. Anna Sloat; auditor, Raymond Cote. The late Mrs. William C. Whitney was a member of the board of managers. Mr. Whitney is accounted as one of the most prominent benefactors, as are also Seth Low and Mrs. E. O. Havemeyer, who is a life member. The late Frederick Billings was a life member, contributing $500 a year up to the time of his death. Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Mrs. Francis N. Shinn, Mr. A. G. Mills, Mrs. Winthrop, Mr. Benjamin Stern and others are life members.—New York World.

The Care of Flowers.
A woman who knows all about flowers and their care has compiled the following rules for keeping cut flowers:
The ends of the stems of all flowers should be cut off before they are placed in water. It is better to strip the leaves from that part of the stem which will be immersed.
Do not allow the ends of the stems to rest on the bottom of the vase.
In cutting the ends, snip them off at right angles to the stalk.
Change the water each day and at the same time again cut the ends of the flower stems.
Do not place flowers near or under lights—gas or lamp—when it can be avoided.
Maidenhair fern should be kept rolled up in moistened paper and on the ice, or with the stems in the water in a cool place, until ready for use. In this way it will last for some time.
Mignonette is generally grown in a cool house and for this reason often droops when first placed in a heated room. It is well to put it in the icebox, in water, for a time, when it will revive, "harden," and if properly cared for each day last a long time.
Many flowers do more satisfactorily if placed in water with the chill off until the stems have become filled and are then allowed to stand in an ice chest or very cool place for a time. Roses will occasionally revive if placed in ice water—always with the ends of the stems previously cut.
Never place cut flowers in a draft or in sunlight.

How to Gather.
Laying gathers is a time honored operation, as irritating and nerve wearing as it is necessary. Since learning to accomplish the same result in a far easier way, the present writer has taught the knack to several friends, and all, without exception, are enthusiastic. Use a long, strong needle; that is, a coarser one than you would ordinarily use for the work in hand. Gather the needle full, keeping the thumb finger at the eye of the needle, so that no stitches escape on to the thread. When you can force on no more cloth, still holding the thumb in place, with the thumb and first finger hold the gathers firmly on to the needle at the point end. With the left thumb and first and second fingers pull the gathers two or three at a time, straight down from the needle with a swinging motion, sliding the fingers under the material and pulling down with the thumb, beginning at the left and working toward the right. When the work is slipped on to the thread, it will be as flat as if each gather had been painfully "scratched" into place. The two processes are practically accomplished in one, and after a few trials and with a little patience you will never go back to the "good old way."—Good Housekeeping.

Young Ladies, Please Note.
The following is a sample of the wisdom contained in the standard work on Chinese feminine etiquette for 1899 years which has just been translated by Mrs. S. L. Baldwin:
Sitting, don't shake your knees, a common fault with men; standing, keep quiet your skirts; when placed, laugh not aloud; when angry, still make no noise.
All girls should learn woman's work. Follow not your desires just to eat, eat. Do not imitate stupid women who gad about from house to house speaking idle words and scandal.
Rise at cock crow.
Dress neatly, not showily.
See that the kitchen and cooking utensils are clean.
Whenever the husband speaks let the wife give careful attention.
If the husband is angry, let not the wife be angry also, but meekly yield to him.
Wash carefully and mend neatly his clothing; prepare his daily food carefully, lest his body becomes thin and his heart sorrowful.

Why Women Join Clubs.
Women join clubs because they enjoy sociability, which is placed upon an intellectual basis. The pleasure to be derived from the exclusively fashionable gatherings is militated against by the fact that the circle is comparatively small and is composed of persons who have similar traditions and standards. There is apt to be a time to be a sense of monotony; there is also apt to be rivalry, and above all, a woman must be young and beautiful, or rich and influential in order to attract the true essence of the pleasure of fashionable society. Club society is much more democratic and is composed of a greater variety of elements. Its reason for being is intellectual. Such rivalry as exists has nothing to do with material things. The elderly and plain woman, poor in purse and unknown outside of her club, may win her double frills there and find a life that otherwise would have been lonely and unexpressed filled and warmed by what she receives and which she is able to give.—Mrs. Ella W. Peattie in Chicago Times-Herald.

Drive Ball.
Drive ball is a game played only by the older children. A court is mapped out and a big, soft ball is placed between the captain of the two lined up teams of five players each. The ball is driven back and forth between the teams, but only one can be hit by the fist. A goal counts two.

A Dog That Changes.
The uses to which the dog are put are many and are constantly increasing in number as his fitness for different kinds of work is appreciated. In Holland almost all the vegetable and fish carts of the market are drawn by dogs. The same animals carry the light cargoes of the north, and in the Alps they accompany searching parties and are kept in the monasteries for the purpose of locating travelers who have lost their way and would otherwise perish. In our own land scarcely a week passes without the payment of a tribute of some sort to a creature of the canine breed for his acts of heroism or other performances which indicate that he has a natural insight into the affairs of men.
A comparatively new use to which the farm dog is being put in northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania is shown by the accompanying illustration, which demonstrates how a dog runs the churn. The animal shown has churned the entire product of a large dairy for the last two years. It will be seen that the principle upon which the churn works is a simple application of the old treadmill, and dogs are easily taught their part of the work. The common shepherd dog is said to be the easiest to teach, and, having once been in the treadmill, he barks and capers around when preparations are being made for his new occupation. This showing by his actions that he finds as much delight in the work as do his masters in having him perform it. In this case the cross section near the top is a lever and connects with the handle of an old fashioned churn to the right not shown in the picture.—Chicago Record.

Why Do Birds Migrate?
No one has given a really satisfactory reason for the migration of birds. Some say it is a matter of instinct; others that it is a matter of example—the younger learning from the older still others, that it is largely a matter of search for food. The last named reason will hardly hold, in view of the fact that often birds disappear when food conditions are seemingly perfect. Notwithstanding naturalists have studied and written much on the subject, the real reason remains a mystery. Some extraordinary stories are told of migratory birds. It is said that the Virginia plover flies to the height of two miles and at a speed of 225 miles an hour. It is reported that a blackcap warbler arrived at a certain bush in the north in three successive years at half past 3 o'clock of the afternoon of the same day.—American Boy.

A Boy's Joke.
The little son of an officer prominent in the navy circle of Washington has made frequent visits to the neighborhood of Sandy Hook in summer. The other day, overhearing his parents discuss sundry naval matters, he picked up his ears at one remark of his father and asked to have it repeated.
"I was just telling your mother," said the officer, "how we organized the mosquito fleet during the war with Spain."
"The mosquito fleet?" echoed the boy.
"Oh, yes, I suppose that must have been New Jersey for its flagship!"

Miss Brown's Photograph.
Little Miss Brown came up to our town To sit for her photograph. Her bunny she brought (How funny she thought, The photograph man should laugh!)
"Please 'take' my miff— I love its white tuft— And bunny, my precious pet."

"I'll snore or I'll pose, I'll work or I'll doze, If only you won't forget."
"Now, do not frown, Now drop your eyes down, But smile at the lady there; Now clasp bunny tight, Your miff fix just right; The camera's caught you, hit!" —Good Housekeeping.

Drive Ball.
Drive ball is a game played only by the older children. A court is mapped out and a big, soft ball is placed between the captain of the two lined up teams of five players each. The ball is driven back and forth between the teams, but only one can be hit by the fist. A goal counts two.

maintaining it is necessarily much greater, is a point worthy of note.—New York Tribune.

Public Spirit of Clubwomen.
It was refreshing and stimulating during the proceedings of that cultured and aesthetic gathering of the New England Women's club to note the irrepressible undercurrent of purposeful and practical impulse. The subjects chosen for the conference were significant of its growing tendency not only to add to its culture, but also to apply that culture with spirit and enterprise to existing problems. In the discussion, for instance, of community betterment, to which a whole morning was given, it was noticeable that the queries were not directed to theory, but to practice—the how and not the why. It is interesting to observe how soon, too, in the endeavor to apply their abilities to the help of social and municipal conditions women confront the fact that they are tremendously handicapped because of the lack of that essential leverage, the power to act directly in the appointment of officials and the enactment of laws. No doubt the press and literary production and distribution, the lines of work to which women are relegated, are very good. But intelligent women soon are made aware that to win respect for their opinions they need the weight and dignity of a complete citizenship. Looking over the cultured, serious minded and refined assembly, the interested observer could only wonder how much longer this investment would be withheld which, like the touch of the trolley to the wire, would speed this thoroughly equipped body on its earnest and thoughtful purpose to promote a purer public spirit, a finer public life and a more robust patriotism.—Boston Transcript.

Women at the Pan-Am.
One of the many interesting features of the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo will be an extensive exhibition of women's manufactures. The general public little realize the extent and importance of this class of industries. It has been made apparent to the board of women managers of the exposition, however, by the numerous applications from prospective exhibitors.
One woman makes rugs and has built up quite an industry. She keeps a large number of wives and daughters of New England farmers busy with her work. Another manufactures artistic jewel settings, another exquisite things in pottery, another carved and decorative leather goods, etc. In fact, the women's manufactures are so many that it would require much space to enumerate them all.
The committee on applied arts of the board of women managers has established in the manufactures and liberal arts building a commodious booth in which articles manufactured by women may be exhibited at a nominal cost to the exhibitors, and arrangements will be made under which orders may be taken for articles like those displayed.

New Tailor Made Gowns.
Every girl needs one tailor frock, and it is well when possible to supplement this with another of wool. The so called tailor frocks this year are like those made for older women and on a more elaborate scale than was considered smart last season. The flaring skirt with the attached ruffle is a favorite style, and when the plain gored skirt is used a great deal of flare is put in around the foot. The ruffle is trimmed with a band of taffeta or with braid or is headed with some bright Persian trimming.

The Eton jacket is seen more than any other jacket form, although it cannot be called the smartest. The leading tailors turn out a pretty little jacket somewhat on the refter style, shorter in the back than in the front, double breasted and tight fitting at the back and sides, with loose fronts and narrow revers. This rather leads in favor at present. That the Eton jacket allows for so much trimming is one reason for its popularity, especially for the spring, and certainly batiste, Russian lace, fancy collars and revers, such as combine so effectively with the Etons, add greatly to the general effect of the cloth suit.—Harper's Bazar.

Talk Heard at Fashionable Tens.
Mrs. May Wright Sewall, president of the International Council of Women, in a drawing room lecture recently delivered to women only took occasion to score all women who devote their time to fashionable lunches, teas, dinners and society in general.
"Women of leisure," she said, "spend much of their time seeking amusements that do not amuse. At half the 'high society' entertainments—receptions and dinners—the talk that goes the rounds is not worth one's while, nor is it fit stuff for women to hear or repeat." Mrs. Sewall said that if she had accepted all the invitations that had been sent to her within the last six months she would have spent three-fourths of her time listening to idle and vaporous talk and silly gossipings.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

An outcome of the recent conference between faculty and students at Wellesley regarding certain points in the social life of the college is the establishment of a "court of revels," having in view the suitable and traditional observance of holidays and other festive days.

Although violets are worn by many, the lily of the valley is the most popular flower of the day. It is the fashion for women in tailor made dresses to wear a lily buttonhole, wired and small and neat, like a man's.

The lieutenant governor of Burma has forbidden the employment of women as barmaids and urges similar action in neighboring provinces.

FREAKS OF FIDD'S FURNACE.

'Twas but last fall that Hiram Fidd Went out and bought a furnace. He told his wife, "This winter, now, The cold will not concern us."

He smiled a gleeful smile and then Went on: "The man who sold it Assured me that no residence Could be too big to hold it."

"Because, when once 'twas firmly set, Or, maybe, when 'twas seated, The territory all around Would be completely heated."

But listen how the furnace had The handsomeness of Nero. It simply dropped its head and quit When things got down to zero.

At 7 in the morning, when The Fidds were all arising, The cold air from the furnace poured In manner frigidizing.

At 8 o'clock old Fidd went down And made the clinkers scampers; He shoveled on a lot of coal And opened up the dampers.

At 9 o'clock a feeble blaze Did in the embers smolder. At 10 o'clock, if anything, The house was somewhat colder.

Eleven brought a shivering whiff Of heat that was right pleasing, But noon was still disconsolate, And everything was freezing.

At 1 p. m. old Fidd went down To cuss at it and scold it. At 2 and 3 and 4 o'clock And 5 o'clock he scolded it.

At 6 the family sat down To eat a chilly dinner. At 7 Fidd was saying things That would disgrace a sinner.

At 8 he thought of how he bought The furnace with much bawling; At 9 his daughter went to bed To slumber in her raglan.

At 10 there came a blast of heat From radiators pouring; Eleven saw it hotter yet And shivering the flooring.

Eleven-thirty found the warmth With vigor unabated; Old Fidd threw open windows then, And things were ventilated.

By midnight there were smoke and flames From out the cellar swelling, And 1 a. m. their little home Was but a ruined dwelling.

But Fidd was glad. He said the heat Had warmed all his labors. He got a good insurance sum And warmed up all his neighbors. —Baltimore American.

"So do I," he answered calmly. And she let it go at that.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Tamed an Ant.
Father Wassmann is a German Jesuit priest who takes a great interest in insects of every sort and is recognized as an authority on their habits. Among others of his fancies he keeps many different tribes of ants in artificial nests. To these is connected a feeding tube terminating in a glass bulb closed by a cork. Into this tube, he remarked, one of the insects came regularly. It was easy to recognize it to be always the same, as it was particularly small and otherwise different from its companions. The creature licked up the honey or sugar placed in the bulb and, having gathered a supply, returned to share it with its companions in the nest.
Wassmann then removed the cord upon which the insect came out and sought for food. He then approached it with the point of a needle dipped in honey. The ant at first shrank back, as if frightened, then gradually drew nearer, feeling about with its antennae, till at last it came up to the needle and licked off the honey. Later he accustomed it to take the honey directly from the tip of his finger, a surprising fact when we remember that the least unusual odor or the slightest movement outside their nest is either repulsive or terrifying to ants and drives them either to flight or to demonstrations of disgust. Wassmann succeeded in taming the insect so completely that at last it quitted the bulb immediately the cork was removed, came in quest of the honey on his finger and at the conclusion of its repast made no attempt at resistance or flight.

Took Bunny to a Hospital.
Two little girls carrying a large basket between them walked into the Samaritan hospital at Philadelphia and carefully deposited their burden on the floor.

"Dear doctor," said one timidly as Dr. Brady approached, "Teddy's leg is hurt awfully bad. He tore it on a nail. Can't you please cure him?"
"Gracious," exclaimed the physician as he glanced at the tear stained faces of the children and then at the big market basket, "what have you here?"
Quickly but gingerly he unfolded layer after layer of cotton in the basket, wondering all the while who the well beloved Teddy was. When the covering was removed, he discovered a small white rabbit curled up and motionless at the bottom.

Dr. Brady sighed with relief as he lifted the bunny up to examine it, and after promising the child not to hurt the rabbit even a little bit, Dr. Brady dressed the bunny's leg, the skin of which had been torn into strips, and put it back into the basket.

In the hallway one of the children paused, took a penny out of her pocket and, climbing upon a chair, dropped it into the contribution box. Then, carrying the basket containing Teddy between them, they marched proudly out of the institution.—Philadelphia Press

Fifth of May in Japan.
The year has many a holiday. But the fifth of May is the day when drums and guns and warlike toys bring ecstasy to little boys.

Above the house, far and near, The paper fishes the day appear, From lumber poles the whirly and play As though about to dart away.

The sky is like a globe overhead, The roofs like purple pebbles spread, And all the world has now become One jolly, big aquarium.

—Mary McNeill Fenollosa in St. Nicholas.

Got It Done.
An intelligent looking boy walked into a grocer's shop the other day and, reading from a paper, said:
"I want six pounds of sugar at 64 cents a pound."
"Yes," said the shopman, "that will be 39 cents."
"Eleven pounds of rice at 6 cents a pound."
"Sixty-six cents."
"Four pounds of tea at 50 cents a pound."
"Two dollars."
And so he continued, "Five pounds of coffee at 25 cents, seven tins of milk at 10 cents, four tins of tomatoes at 9 cents, eight tins of sardines at 15 cents."

The shopman made out the bill and handed it to the lad, saying, "Did your mother send the money, or does she want them entered?"
"My mother didn't send me at all," said the boy, seizing hold of the bill. "It's my arithmetic lesson, and I had to get it done somehow."

Boys Earning Money.
A California paper wonders if any enterprising boy will ever upon stands where bicycles can be cleaned while you wait. After a long trip a rider would gladly pay a small sum to any boy who would do the job properly. Berlin has establishments for cycle cleaning. For a small annual subscription the wheel is called for, cleaned as often as desired and returned. Here is a good field for the active boy.

THREE FUNNY FISHES.

How some of the freaks of the deep capture their food.
Some fishes do not have sharp weapons with which to keep off their enemies or to use in catching other fishes for themselves, so nature, which looks after all things, teaches them little tricks which they use to great advantage.

There is one fish who hides himself in the mud at the bottom of the big rivers in India, where he makes his home, and just peeps his head out to see what is going on. Now, this fish has a kind of beard growing on his lips. The hairs of the beard keep wagging about in the water, and the little fishes think that surely they are worms. All little fishes are very greedy, so when they see these hairs they say to themselves: "Oh, here are some fine worms! Let's have a party." Up they swim and begin to nibble at the hairs, but the fish who is in the mud gobbles them up, and the little ones do not have any party.

There is another kind of fish who shoots flies and little bugs. He twists his mouth into it is just like a popgun, and he uses a drop of water instead of a bullet. When he sees a fly sitting on a leaf near the water's edge, he takes aim very carefully, then, pop, Mr. Fly finds himself knocked into the water, only to be eaten by the fish who has shot him.

Still another strange fish lives in the sea. He is called the sucking fish. When he sees anything he likes very much, he simply fastens himself to it by means of a kind of plate on his head. He is so strong that nothing can pull him away. The people who live near the coast of Africa use this fish to catch turtles. They tie a strong cord to his tail and put him in the water near the place where the turtle is asleep. If they go too near, the turtle will wake up and swim away, but the sucking fish always catches him and holds on so hard that the men in the boat pull in fish, turtle and all. So you see this fish is very useful.

His First Day at School.
A pair of mittens, a tin and toy; New shoes that had shined long; A velvet cap for his only head And a tie of palest rose.

A bag of books, a twelve inch rule And the daintiest hands in town— These were the things that went to school With William Herbert Brown.

A ragged mitten without a thumb, Two shoes that were scuffed at the toes, A head that ended with a dirty bump Since the snowball hit his nose.

A stickpin and a broken rule And the daintiest hands in town— These were the things that came from school With happy Billy Brown.

—Mary Catherine Harris in St. Nicholas.

Prisoner's Base.
An excellent outdoor game is prisoner's base. Divide the ground into two equal parts, with a small base or prison marked off at the farther end of each division. From five to twelve players guard each side. They venture into the enemy's ground and if caught are put into the prison, where they must remain until tagged by one of their own side who is free. Both prisoner and rescuer can be tagged and brought back to prison before reaching their own ground. The game is won when a free man enters the opponents' prison, but this can only be done when there are no prisoners there.

An Intelligent Cat.
Mrs. E. C. Capen of Pittsburgh has a wonderful cat that refuses to eat from a dish on the floor, but prefers to be seated in a high chair and eat from a table. At every mealtime this particular cat will jump to a high chair and by plaintive cries insist on being seated at a table which has been set apart for the pet. Quietly sitting in this chair, the cat will at his leisure eat a morsel with all the calmness and ease of a person. Mrs. Capen has refused a handsome offer for the cat, which is of the tiger breed.

One Bird Catches.
There is but one person in all the German empire that is allowed to catch song birds, and he serves them for colleges and institutions where questions of science are studied. A heavy fine is placed upon any one who kills a bird or destroys a bird's nest.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Portsmouth Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and kidney ills follow. Urinary trouble, Diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Portsmouth people endorse their claim.

Mrs. C. H. Gould, 12 Cass street, says:—"Reading one evening in a newspaper, I came across an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills and it occurred to me that they would be good for my son. He had weak kidneys for years, having been injured by a toss from a cow. For a long time after the mischance it was thought that he would not recover, and when he was able to get around his kidneys were in a very serious condition. Finally it developed into a very bad back, accompanied with urinary weakness. The aching and lameness in his back stopped, the urinary weakness was corrected, and in all other ways he was improved."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co. Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

The board of managers of the Home for Aged Women will hold its monthly meeting at the home on Deer street on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

There will be a regular meeting of the Portsmouth Athletic club this evening. After the business meeting there will be a rehearsal of the opening chorus.

The choir of the Immaculate Conception church will hold a musical, to be participated in by its members, at Grand Army hall on Thursday evening, January 23d. The choir members will also enjoy a complimentary banquet.

"Me and Otis," a very laughable comedy in three acts is to be presented on Thursday evening, January 23d, in Philbrick hall, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. building fund. Some of Portsmouth's talented young people are to take part and the affair promises to be a great success.

IN FORCE TONIGHT.

Beginning at eleven o'clock tonight, the saloons will be closed to conform with the orders of City Marshal Entwistle. Tomorrow the police will visit every place where liquor has been sold at retail, and if evidence of keeping for sale are found, or if sales are reported, prosecutions will follow. Arrangements have been made to check any disorder that may occur and any breach of the peace will be prosecuted. It is predicted that the closing will be quiet and philosophical. It seems as though every family had been supplied with liquor for medicinal purposes; at least large numbers of people have taken advantage of the opportunity to prepare for sickness by stocking up.

MIDDLE STREET BAPTIST GUILD LECTURE COURSE, PEIRCE HALL, OPENING LECTURE JANUARY 20TH.

INWARD AND OUTWARD.

The inward efforts of humors are worse than the outward. They weaken all the organs, inflame the mucous membrane, cause catarrhal troubles, and endanger the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors and cures all their effects.

It's the great alternative and tonic medicine whose merit has been everywhere established.

Accept no substitute.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Everything in the basin of the new dry dock is frozen hard.

The U. S. S. Nevada should arrive here this month to be fitted out.

Jon. Rolfe of Penacook has entered the equipment force as electrician.

A large force of electricians is engaged on the work on the U. S. S. Detroit.

Piling will be used in the foundation of the new equipment building at the head of the new dry dock.

The horses have a hard pull moving the loaded cars that come to the yard; especially is this so since the last fall of snow.

Alterations are being made in the patterns sent here from Brooklyn navy yard for the feed pipes of the U. S. S. Raleigh.

New air fans have arrived for the blacksmith shops and will be placed by the equipment crew and moved by electric power.

Some of the men discharged in the crew of the yards and docks' department are working for the contractors on the new building.

Large sliding doors now take the place of the partitions of most all the buildings where the spur tracks of the steam railroad will enter.

Col. John C. Linehan, insurance commissioner, is to attend the annual banquet of the Irish-American Historical society to be held in New York.

All the heavy machinery has been replaced aboard the U. S. S. Detroit. This machinery was taken out shortly after the ship went out of commission.

The amount of track that makes up the steam railroad is said to be less than three miles and that thirty switches will be required on the main track and spurs.

It is thought that the change in working hours contemplated a short time ago will not take place and the customary winter hours will remain as they are and that a change may be made in the summer schedule.

Several large castings, including cylinders and condensers, were placed aboard the U. S. S. Raleigh yesterday to be put in position. This work is some of the heaviest turned out at this yard and a credit to the department of steam engineering.

A motor and compressed air machine has been placed on one of the large ox carts and can be moved and operated at almost any part of the yard. The wires of the electric power are tapped to feed the motor and the compressed air can be furnished anywhere that it is needed.

The steam heat from the new electric light plant which was to heat up the officers' quarters and the steam engineering building will not be turned on until the new boilers are put in place. The boilers now in use at the lighting plant will only furnish the required steam to operate the plant.

WHIST PARTY.

Mrs. Herbert O. Primo entertained a party at whist on Monday afternoon in Conservatory hall from three to six o'clock. There were fourteen tables filled and the time was most enjoyably passed. During the afternoon Mrs. Sadie Dickey Simpson sang several pleasing solos. The first prize, a fancy bonbon dish, was awarded to Mrs. J. Edward Pickering, second, a fancy vase, Mrs. J. W. Kelley, third, a china plaque, Mrs. Lemuel Pope. After the prizes were awarded refreshments, consisting of marquee ices, assorted cake and coffee were served. Dancing concluded the afternoon's entertainment. J. S. Simpson presiding at the piano.

TAKE CHARGE WEDNESDAY.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Henry C. Phynce, the newly appointed postmaster general, will take the oath of office Wednesday morning and immediately assume charge of the department.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation of the many expressions of help and for the many kindnesses extended on the death and funeral services of my husband, Henry E. Evans, to the York Harbor & Beach railroad, the Portsmouth, Kittery & York railroad companies, the various organizations of which he was a member, the people of York and the friends of the family, who were so thoughtful and interested during the three sad days past.

MRS. HENRY E. EVANS.

York, Me., Jan. 13, 1902.

THE SHOCK KILLED HIM.

A horse attached to Smith's milk pump of Greenland dropped dead in front of Dr. John Parson's residence on State street during the forenoon.

The horse heard someone say that everything was to be closed up tonight and the poor beast couldn't stand the shock.

Hungarian Water.

The first alcoholic perfume made in Europe was Hungarian water, made from rosemary in 1370.

The First Telegraph.

The first electric telegraph at all-deserving the name was invented by Messrs. Cooke and Wheatstone and was laid on the London and Blackwell railway, in June, 1837.

MANCHESTER.

The Manchester ministers' association has refused to pass a resolution thanking Ex-Gov. Goddell for his part in closing the saloons of this city. The members of the association say that it would be better for each member to extend his thanks personally, rather than that the association should so vote.

A dramatic company of St. Anselm's college last night produced a farce in honor of the president of the college.

The board of assessors has denied the application of the Amory manufacturing company which asks for an abatement of taxes. It is anticipated that this case will be entered before the superior court.

The selectmen of Auburn have forced the town's police out of commission, the officers retiring with the performance of their duty Sunday night. The selectmen take the ground that the town has no need of a police force now that the saloons are closed.

The family history of Annie Beaudry, the girl who committed suicide after having attempted to kill Virginia Gagnon, has been disclosed. When two years of age a kettle of boiling water was overturned on her head, burning her so badly that her hair came off in patches. At the time it was not believed she would recover. Ever after that she had spells when she did not appear to be herself and was subjected to violent headaches with unusual frequency. It is believed that she never fully recovered from the shock of the scalding.

DOVER.

Saturday night's snowstorm brought just the right amount of snow to suit the owners of fast horses. Monday Charles W. Davis, the veteran reinsman, broke out the half-mile speedway on 6th street and put it in excellent shape for fast work. Snow races will shortly be in order.

The school committee will hold an adjourned meeting on Thursday evening to act on the petition of the parents of pupils in the Central hall school for its abolishment. Hon. T. W. Woodman, owner of the building, and others, will appear before the committee as remonstrants.

A Great Geyser.

An immense geyser has been discovered in Rotomahona, New Zealand. It covers an area an acre in extent and constantly throws columns of water to vast heights, some of them ascending 300 feet, with clouds of steam which go much higher.
